The term of the positions is approximately year-round based upon weather conditions with potential for permanent advancement. Consideration will be given to academic schedules. Appropriate equipment and transportation will be provided.

Duties:

- THP layout including determining and flagging watercourse zones, special treatment zones, and unit boundaries
- Assist with THP preparation writeup
- Timber marking
- Timber cruising
- Establishing and Re-establishing permanent growth plots
- Once trained, conduct archaeological, biological, and botanical surveys. Biological surveys will be specific to northern spotted owl surveys
- Work flexible hours including early mornings and evenings
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- Familiarity with northern California tree species, basic mensuration, and silvicultural techniques
- Skills in map reading, GPS, and mensuration tools
- High degree of self-motivation
- Must be able to hike and negotiate steep, brushy terrain
- Desired: Enrollment in (or graduate from) an Associate or Bachelor of Science program in forest management, wildlife, or resource management

Competitive pay dependent on education and experience. Long term candidates may qualify for benefits including health insurance, dental insurance, vision plan, paid vacation, sick pay, and 401K plan.
