

Wildfire Mitigation Program Specialist

The Colorado State Forest Service is an agency of Colorado State University, Colorado's land grant institution of higher education, and is housed, organizationally, in the Warner College of Natural Resources. The CSFS also staffs the Division of Forestry for the Colorado Department of Natural Resources. The CSFS has 17 field units throughout the state, with a State Office located in Fort Collins on CSU's foothills campus.

The Forest Planning and Implementation Division of the Colorado State Forest Service provides administration and oversight of forest management programs that directly contribute to the agency's mission of "the stewardship of Colorado's diverse forest environments for the benefit of present and future generations". The Wildfire Mitigation Program Specialist is a sub-staff of the Forest Planning and Implementation Division of the CSFS. The administration of wildfire risk reduction programs is carried out under the supervision of the Fire, Fuels, and Watershed Manager.

This position is based in Fort Collins, with the potential for flexible work arrangements, including remote work within the State of Colorado. Candidates interested in remote options must be able to travel to Fort Collins, the Denver area, or other locations throughout Colorado periodically for meetings, trainings, etc.
